Romaine Facts: Available year-round from

California and Arizona. Washington lettuce is available from May to October. Good-quality Romaine lettuce will have fairly large, moderately firm heads and thick leaves. The leaves will be medium to dark-green in color blending to nearly white ribs or veins. Scratch the stalk and smell. A sweet or bitter smell means sweet or bitter flavor. Large, even shaped heads with broad, fairly loose leaves are best. Avoid product with thin, wilted leaves, brown spots near the stalk end and small and odd shaped heads. Extremely solid, light-colored heads mean all core and less taste.
